

Bio for Ann C. Logue:

Ann C. Logue, CFA

3737 N. Paulina
Chicago, IL 60613
Phone: (773) 665-1059
Fax: (773) 665-1059
Email: annielogue@gmail.com
Website: www.annlogue.com

Ann Logue (rhymes with vogue) is a writer who is interested in the intersection of money, culture, investing, and technology. She is the author of four books, Emerging Markets for Dummies (Wiley 2010), Socially Responsible Investing for Dummies (Wiley 2009), Day Trading for Dummies (Wiley 2007), and Hedge Funds for Dummies (Wiley 2006). She has also provided ghostwriting and technical editing services for books published by Bloomberg Press, the International Monetary Fund, and Pearson Educational Services.

In addition to her books, Logue has written about industries, executives, and current events for Barron's, Entrepreneur, Newsweek Japan, and trade and association publications serving quilt retailers, scrap metal brokers, and university development officers – among others. She is a lecturer in finance at the University of Illinois at Chicago, teaching both undergraduate and MBA students about corporation finance and international financial markets. She has been a visiting lecturer at Southwest Jiaotong University in Chengdu, Sichuan, China. She blogs about business and current events at Popdose.com, RStreet.com, and AnnLogue.com.

Her current career follows 12 years of experience in the financial markets as an analyst with Volpe Brown Whelan & Co., The Chicago Corporation, and Kemper Mutual Funds.

Logue holds a B.A. in economics from Northwestern University and an MBA with concentrations in finance and accounting from the University of Chicago. She also has the Chartered Financial Analyst designation. She serves on the board of trustees of the foundation of the Episcopal Diocese of Chicago, among other community activities. Logue lives on the north side of Chicago with her husband and son. She enjoys swimming, reading, vegetarian cooking, and watching The Simpsons.

Short bio:

Ann Logue (rhymes with vogue) is a lecturer in finance at the University of Illinois at Chicago and a writer specializing in business and finance. She is the author of four books on investing in Wiley's . . . For Dummies series and has written for Barron's, Entrepreneur, and Newsweek Japan, among other publications. She lives in Chicago and holds the Chartered Financial Analyst designation.

One-line bio:

Ann Logue is a lecturer at the University of Illinois at Chicago and a writer specializing in business and finance. Her most recent book is Emerging Markets for Dummies (Wiley 2010). She lives in Chicago.